

Redmine - Defect #29072

Missing subproject filter in custom query

2018-06-20 11:32 - Michał Siudyka

| | | | |
|--|---------------|--------------------------|-------------------|
| Status: | Closed | Start date: | |
| Priority: | Normal | Due date: | |
| Assignee: | | % Done: | 0% |
| Category: | Issues filter | Estimated time: | 0.00 hour |
| Target version: | | Affected version: | 3.4.6 |
| Resolution: | Duplicate | | |
| Description | | | |
| I am able to specify a subproject filter in the main filters, but after saving it as a custom query, it's missing. | | | |
| Related issues: | | | |
| Duplicates Redmine - Defect # 8603: Query 'without subprojects' cannot be cre... | | New | 2011-06-14 |

History

#1 - 2018-06-20 18:51 - Marius BALTEANU

- Status changed from New to Needs feedback
- Assignee set to Michał Siudyka

Please provide the detailed steps to reproduce the issue and check also #8603 and the related issues.

#2 - 2018-06-21 10:36 - Michał Siudyka

Yes, it's looks exactly like in #8603.

#3 - 2018-06-21 11:43 - Marius BALTEANU

- Duplicates Defect #8603: Query 'without subprojects' cannot be created added

#4 - 2018-06-21 11:44 - Marius BALTEANU

- Status changed from Needs feedback to Closed
- Assignee deleted (Michał Siudyka)
- Resolution set to Duplicate

Thanks for your feedback. I'm closing this one.