Description
The character sequence described in the subject is always rendered as "&amp;" in Textile formatter. You can easily reproduce this issue by entering the sequence in a description field of an issue. You see '=&gt; "&amp;"' in the second line of the following text. Actually, it is 'x % x %' (I cannot spell it without spaces due to the bug). <pre>2.3.3 :001 &gt; ['x', '%', 'x', '%'].join =&gt; "&amp;"</pre>

History

#1 - 2018-09-27 05:09 - Go MAEDA

This is because RedCloth temporarily replaces "&" with "x % x %" (actually, there are no space characters) while converting Textile to HTML.
