Can you provide the steps to reproduce the problem?

The feature is covered by the test and I double checked now on my instance and everything looks good. Please see the attached screenshots.

One more thing, if you expect to see the toolbar for text formatting (Edit/Preview tabs and buttons), this feature is under development, please see #29712.

That's it. I was missing toolbar covered in #29712. Thank you.
Do you know when this feature will be available?

Hopefully in 4.1.0.

It seams that toolbar for text formatting (Edit/Preview tabs and buttons) for text custom fields (for issues, projects, timelogs) is still missing in latest redmine version (5.0.0.stable).

The edit buttons are typically only useful for long texts.

As such, the buttons are only added for custom fields with the format set to "Long Text" and where the "Text formatting" and "Full width layout" options are enabled. This was added in #29712.

If you require the toolbar for other types of custom fields, please open a new issue and describe your use-case in more detail.
