Description
Hi all, I noticed that the associated revisions block is not places next to the comments section as it used to be. This happens when a user selects to display comments - In reverse chronological order option in /my/account. If it is set up to be displayed in chronological order everything looks just fine. I've attached a screenshot with shows the issue (this is the Purplemine theme here but it happen with the original one too). mrliptontea from the Purplemine project found the root cause for this and wrote the following: Aha! I found the cause - this happens when a user selects Display comments - In reverse chronological order option in /my/account. The same layout issue then happens with the default theme. This is because with reversed order the contextual menu is also displayed above the comment history, as defined in the template. Sorry but I'm afraid I can't fix this. He marked the possible issue inside the redmine source code here. Wrong_location_assisiated_revisions.png

Revision 18229 - 2019-06-06 16:35 - Go MAEDA

Fix incorrect position of the "Associated revisions" block when comments are displayed in reverse chronological order (#31438).

Patch by Go MAEDA.

Revision 18235 - 2019-06-07 00:32 - Go MAEDA

Merged r18229 from trunk to 4.0-stable (#31438).

Since the problem occurs only in the third-party theme, there is nothing we can do.

I hope the theme developer suggests how to update the Redmine's code to fix their issue.

Hi,

thanks for the quick replay.

As I've wrote in the description is happens also with the default Redmine theme. See attached screenshot.

I think it will be fixed if #3058 is merged to the trunk.
