Description

Hi,

thanks for this amazing application, we introduced redmine in our company and it works great sofar. But people are complaining about the following:

Before editing or writing a comment they must press edit. So I am thinking about: would it not make sense to allow to automaticly enter the edit mode?

I guess this would require to make a switch in the show template, and showing the form instead of the Values.

Sorry if this was already discussed earlier, but I could not find something regarding this.

Cheers,

jannis
