Redmine - Patch #32961

Make group names clickable in permissions report

Description

At the moment only the caret next to the group name is clickable which makes it difficult to collapse/expand the groups.
It would be better to make also the group text clickable like for the filters.

I think grouped issues list has to behave the same if the patch is applied to the permissions report.

#3 - 2020-02-07 03:24 - Go MAEDA

I noticed that group names in issues list which is grouped by some type of fields such as author, assignee, and target version have links.

Applying the patch causes inconsistency of UI. Items are expanded/collapsed when you click group names in permissions report, but you are navigated to another page when you click group names of issues list grouped by author.

We should consider if such different behaviors are acceptable.
