Description
Hello
Here is a patch which aims to refactor the WorkflowsController. The patch does not change the behavior of the application, but use smaller methods and clearer code. The routes are also updated.
My goal was to use a specific action for each route, and do not use a same method for different purposes (so avoid checking if the request-method is "post" inside actions).
Hope this may help.

Thanks Vincent for the patch, I tried it yesterday and it looks great from my point of view.

I'm attaching a rebased version of the initial patch and a second patch that fixes to route name (workflows_permissions_path should be permissions_workflows_path). All the tests pass (<https://gitlab.com/redmine-org/redmine/-/commit/4ef4ea5047323756a3241eea660e11a383ea7711>) with both patches.

I'm going to review the tests in the following days.

Update the patches for current trunk, the tests still pass.

Setting target to 5.0.0. I think it's a nice refactoring.
