Redmine - Feature #33894

Automatically set done ratio to 100% when closing a issue

Category:	Issues		Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:
Resolution:

Description
If the done ratio is not linked to the issue status, the done ratio must be manually updated when the issue is closed.

This plugin supports my opinion.

Sorry, I've found some tests fail on this patch. We'll fix this later.

It turned out that a condition in `done_ratio_editable?` was wrong.

I have attached a fixed patch.

Thank you for posting the patch but I think the behavior that status is set to 100% on the edit page is sometimes problematic.

Suppose the following senario.

1. A user mistakenly select "Closed" status. The done ratio is immediately changed to 100%
2. Actually, the user wants to set the status to "In progress". So, the user re-select the status
3. Altough the issue is not going to be closed, done ratio remains at 100%

Probably The user does not want the done ratio to be updated to 100%.
