Description
We just changed from Trac and Bugzilla to Redmine for our OpenSource Project JDownloader. Because of law issues we need a way to hide example links given by reporters and users and make them visible only to Managers and Developers. Just an example as i think it would work: links http://google.de links Managers and Developers can see the real url inside the tags, all other groups only see a message like "url hidden"! Because we need this Feature/Patch quiet fast, we are also ready to donate to the project or coders involved in this feature! You can contact us at support@jdownloader.org Thanks

Hiding part of the content (be it URL or any other) on any text note might be a difficult proposition. However, the best way could be to have some custom fields - and you can hide these fields from all those you don't want to see.
