Description

Need the ability to search for all issues that I have been active on, whether I created them or just commented/updated them. There should be a "My Issues" quick-link somewhere on the issues page.

The search by author is almost there, but it needs to include all issues the author had any activity on.

I just discovered that clicking on my login name at the top of the screen "Logged in as <my name>", brings up a list of what looks to be all the issues I'm involved in. That's great, although I still think it would good to have the same function in a "View My Issues" link under the "View All Issues" link in the sidebar. Yes, it's redundant, but it would be much clearer to our users.
