Description
Hi there,
I wrote a plugin which extends original issues' features with following:
• Leave a parent issue's journal when a parent issue's attributes are updated by modification of it's child issue(s).
Written for Redmine 4.1.
If this UX is built in to original Redmine, I'm happy!

The same feature is going to be available in the upcoming Redmine 5.0.0. See #6033 for details.

Thank you for suggesting the improvement.

I think Toru's feature request is a different than the changes made in #6033 which only shows the addition or removal of subtasks.
As I understand this here description the plugin Toru attached adds a journal entry if a subtask changes an attribute of the parent issue. So for example if the due date of the parent issue gets changed by setting the due date a subtask which I think is pretty neat because it makes the behavior of issues which contain substasks very comprehensible.

I will resign current 32 years of employment as of July 15th and be a freelancer. Suppose I can dedicate some of my rest of time to this project. I will make this plugin as a patch for the first hand.

Attached is the patch edition of this feature. i18n resources are only for ja, en and en-GB.
The original is Redmine 5.0.2.
