Marius did a great job in #31573. I guess this and #31573 could be done in one series of patches since both issues have the same purpose.

I would like to commit this patch first without waiting for the result of the discussion on #31573.

This patch just fixes the consistency of DOM and makes it easy for theme developers to apply styles. This is a necessary fix regardless of whether we merge #31573 or not. And this patch does not have a significant negative impact on #31573.
