Description
This is a follow-up to #34766 and #26709. Currently, Redmine API requires to append xml or json to URL in order to respond with the desired format and completely ignore the Accept header. Pavel Rosický wrote more details about this in #26709. In order to be more consistent with how Rails works by default (and other frameworks as well), we should accept the Accept header as alternative to json/xml format in URL.
