Louis Delacretaz:

Can you include the full output from the rake commands when you run it with --trace

```
rake config/initializers/session_store.rb --trace

#2 - 2009-08-03 00:20 - Louis Delacretaz

hmm, both have the same trace, also I note the rake -T does not display the db:migrate:upgrade_plugin_migrations as an available task

(in D:/www/redmine)

These errors not the actual cause of Redmine not working -

Fault was Mongrel calling the wrong directory name. renaming ...\\gems\\mongrel_service-0.3.4-i386-mswin32 to ...\\gems\\mongrel_service-0.3.4-x86-mswin32 lets it all run.

Still getting the rake errors but they appear to have no impact on the upgrade.

- Due date set to 2013-02-13

- Status changed from New to Needs feedback

This doesn't seem to relate to redmine itself. I can upgrade my installations on every server.

If there is no other feedback on this, I'm going to close this next week.

- Status changed from Needs feedback to Closed

- Resolution set to No feedback

I'm closing this, since there is no feedback on this issue and the issue is very outdated.
