Description

I am running redmine trunk r2835, with ruby 1.8.7 and rails 2.2.2.
When I try to receive mails from our IMAP Server at Strato.de , I get the following exception.
Don't know what other information you need, if there is anything I can help you with, please let me know.

rake -f /var/www/redmine/Rakefile redmine:email:receive_imap RAILS_ENV="production" host=imap.st
rato.de ssl=true \
  port=993 username=binoli@redmine.domain.de password= project=binoli \ move_on_success=redmine-success move_on_failure=redmine-failure --trace (in /root)
 Invoke redmine:email:receive_imap (first_time)
 Invoke environment (first_time)
 Execute environment

It seems to happen when there is no mail to process within the IMAP folder.

I can't reproduce and this error is raised by ruby net/imap. So I can't fix anything.

I can still reproduce this behavior. I'm not that fond in Ruby/Rails, so any pointers on how to go on about this bug would be appreciated. Any more info I can provide?

The access to the mailbox seems fine, as it says "Login incorrect" when I try it with a different password. Also this error seems to happen while the mailbox is empty.

I have this problem too, although only on one of the two installations I have running with the imap thingie.

@Jena-Philippe: Would it help you to get a test account on this imap server so that you can try to reproduce the error yourself?

I also have the same problem <http://www.redmine.org/boards/2/topics/14274>
