When creating a new user as an admin, you have to enable the checkbox "Send account information to the user" at the bottom of the user form in order to send details to the user.

Note that the checkbox (and the general ability to send emails) is only available if your email setup in config/configuration.yml allows email deliveries.

If this does not solve your issue, please add additional information (at least relevant log entries from both Redmine, i.e. your log/production.log as well as your mail server if available as well your email configuration). Please also check whether any emails can be sent by your Redmine.
