Description

When adding a new user to an existing project it would be very useful to add the user by copying the roles set from some an already existing user in the project instead of manually tag same roles one-by-one.

Looks reasonable to add a new button beside "Edit"-"Delete" something like "Dup":

- (Project) -> setting -> Members -> (select an existing user X)
- click on new button like "Dup" beside "Edit / Delete"
- the same dialog of "New user" is open, but it provided same roles of X already flagged on
- continue like "New user" use case: new names can be choosed and / or roles still changed; then confirm with "Add" button.

I think that feature would be very useful in managing users. Please consider adding this feature.
