Description Hi  in the context of #38511 I noticed that even after one week my unactivated account @henk_test was not deleted but still waited for me to click the confirmation link.  I see a similar issue with my own redmine instance where registrations require administrator approval: I have to delete a lot of accounts registered by bots.  It would be great to have redmine expire unconfirmed/unactivated accounts after a configurable amount of time.

You can delete users not activated for 30 days after registration by running the following command on your Redmine server. This feature was implemented in Redmine 5.0.0 (#30998).

bin/rails redmine:users:prune RAILS_ENV=production
