Description
We would like to change the link in the automatic emails that Redmine sends to users. The current link, https://redmine.frankfurt-main.ihk.de/, is no longer up to date. The link needs to be changed to: https://ffms246/. Where can we change this in the options?

Administrators can change this in Administration -> Settings -> General -> Host name and path.

(And please ask usage questions in the forums preferably. The issue tracker at redmine.org is intended to be used for code development.)

Holger, I think that message is part of the footer setting, so it should be in the Administration -> Settings -> Email notifications -> Email footer.
