Description

After deleting some journal that only contains notes (not property changes), the indice of note journal rebuilded and indice will be changed.
In this case references to that note will be invalid and probably will reference to wrong journal-note.
I recommend to replace link to note-%note_indice, link to journal-%change_id-notes. Because in my opinion, an invalid reference (not existed note) is so better than wrong reference to a irrelevant note.
Linking to journal-%change_id-notes, needs tiny changes on application_helper parse_redmine_links.
