Description Hello, not sure if that was already requested, but I was thinking it would be convenient that if a subproject does not have wiki module checked, it inherits from wiki of parent project so all subproject wiki could be consolidated in the parent wiki. So far only solution I see is to make a table of links to subproject wiki in the parent project wiki manually which is not practical. Or if an link to the subproject wiki would be automatically created in the parent wiki that would work too but sounds more complicated
