

Redmine - Feature #40635

How to get back issues that have been deleted.

2024-04-24 14:56 - Gco IT

|  |        |                        |           |
|--|--------|------------------------|-----------|
| Status:                                 | Closed | Start date:     |           |
| Priority:                               | Normal | Due date:       |           |
| Assignee:                               |        | % Done:         | 0%        |
| Category:                               | Issues | Estimated time: | 0.00 hour |
| Target version:                         |        |                        |           |
| Resolution:                             |        |                        |           |
| Description                             |        |                        |           |
| How to get back issues that have been deleted. |        |                        |           |

History

#1 - 2024-04-26 00:34 - Holger Just

- Status changed from New to Closed

Delete data is physically deleted from the database. The only way to get it back is to restore a previous backup you have created from the Redmine database. If you do not have previous backups, this data is lost unfortunately.