

Redmine - Feature #4103

include the project name in wiki updates emails

Description probably by laziness, I always name the first wiki page "home". Since I have about 50 projects, the wiki modification notice emails are often the same : "page home has been modified" I think it'd be better if the project name figured in the text.

oops.. Apparently, drunken programming is not effective as drunken boxing so please ignore this..
