This could also be done via an RSS feed, which is how many other wikis do it.

Jos, an atom feed for wiki changes is already available: go to the Activity view, choose 'Wiki pages' and you'll get the corresponding feed.

For example, here is the feed for Redmine's wiki:

Sweet.

The problem with this is that it doesn't scale.

If you've got 20 projects in Redmine and want to watch the wikis for all of them, you have to subscribe to 20 RSS feeds.

Not only that, but it's misleading; if the setting says "all updates", it should be all updates, including wiki updates.
