Please us the forums for usage questions!

To avoid a double-post now though: Your user's API key can be found in the sidebar of your My Account page if an admin of your your Redmine installation h has enabled the REST API. On redmine.org, this API is disabled. You can setup your own Redmine installation on your own server though where you can then use the API.

(Note: You have selected 0.7 as the affected version. Note that Redmine 0.7 is not supported anymore. If you are actually using this old version, you should update!)
