Thank you for detecting and reporting the issue.

I found IssueImport.authorized? has a similar problem. It should check :add_issues permission.

- Target version set to 5.0.10

#4 - 2024-10-11 17:01 - Kenta Kumojima

- File import_issue_and_time_entry.patch added

I found IssueImport.authorized? has a similar problem. It should check :add_issues permission.

I added checking add_issues permission when importing issues and updated patch.

#5 - 2024-10-28 03:04 - Go MAEDA

- File import_issue_and_time_entry-v2.patch added
- Subject changed from User without log_time permission can access /time_entry/imports/new to "Import issues" and "Import time entries" pages are visible to users without "Add issues" and "Log spent time" permissions

I have updated the patch to apply to the current trunk cleanly.

#6 - 2024-11-03 07:15 - Go MAEDA

- Status changed from Confirmed to Closed
- Assignee set to Go MAEDA
- Resolution set to Fixed

I have committed the fix in r23178. Thank you for your contribution.

I didn't set this issue's category to "Security" because, although the import pages are visible to users without permissions, the import process will fail.
