Description Currently, odd-numbered rows in tables such as issues list and spent time list have a grey background, and even-numbered rows have a white background. This can result in a darker appearance when the table has a few rows, as the gray rows become more prominent. Additionally, the gray first row immediately follows the dark gray header, creating a visually heavy transition. The attached patch swaps the background colors of even and odd table rows. When a table has a few rows, it results in a darker appearance: clipboard-202410180640-5exql.png clipboard-202410180648-3kauc.png After swapping odd and even table row background colors: clipboard-202410180642-sdwnt.png clipboard-202410180649-omqzr.png When a table does not have a header, the first row looks like a header: clipboard-202410180654-letya.png After swapping odd and even table row background colors: clipboard-202410180655-ibytu.png
