Description
Hello, I recently installed Redmine and I am having trouble configuring email notifications. I am both a user and an admin for Redmine. Currently when users update issues, Redmine will only send notifications to the admin email (my gmail) and not to user email (my company email). Everyone has their email notifications adjusted to the proper settings so that they should receive emails for issues that they are "watchers". Does anyone know why email notifications don't propagate to any email addresses aside from the Admin email address? Thanks in advance. Matt
