Description
It would be a nice improvement on the UI side if, in each query (custom or not), the issues assigned to me were highlighted with bold text. This would add a better glance when viewing queries. This feature is available for example in the purplemine2 theme here https://github.com/mrliptontea/PurpleMine2

Thank you for your suggestion. Instead of highlighting the entire issue row, I propose bolding only the Assignee field for issues assigned to the user and the Author field for issues created by the user. This approach offers several advantages:

1. Clearer Meaning:
Highlighting specific fields avoids confusion about why an issue is emphasized, unlike bolding the entire row, which might imply higher priority.

2. Cleaner UI:
By focusing on relevant fields, the interface remains visually balanced.
