Description
It would be nice if the starting page can be selected, a user could set his homepage to http://www.redmine.org/projects/redmine/issues , http://www.redmine.org/ would then lead him to this page.

This functionality was only partly available in a plugin named redmine_user_homepages. I see that Eric has redone this as a new plugin now named Homepage -- http://github.com/edavis10/redmine_homepage. This is another example of something I believe should be left as a plugin rather than be added to the core.

redmine_homepage was created before redmine_user_homepage. But neither of them allow a user to configure their homepage.
