Description
When creating or updating an issue, you have the option to connect it to a target version through a "Target version" drop down list.
Instead of just listing the names of the available target versions, it would be great to see the release dates in the same drop down list.

+1 a Relatively simple but very useful request I think.

Maybe order by Date as well? (Soonest date first)

Realized I wasn't following the posting rules, so I unassigned the issue.

+1

I would also like the due date for the target version to be shown in the list of Issues, when I choose to group them by Target version. This would be very useful.
