Target version:
Resolution:
Description Provision for categorized view of projects on the Projects interface is essential as there is no way to identify the projects belonging to different categories (departments, verticals, groups etc...), within the user Organization This would especially help the admin level users as the no of projects on the view are many In the first place, is such an option already available or on the cards If not, should be pursued immediately

I'd just like to add my support for this feature. Currently we've solved this by adding real projects as sub projects under psuedo higher level projects - which isn't really ideal.
