Description

Actually, in controller Users when a request of type post is send the last line in this method (line: 112 redirect_to :back) for me doesnt make sense.

It will usable if it wasnt redirect_to params[:back]. ???

I found this when i needed to redirect to last location in a user edit.
For example, im forcing the user to fill another custom fields from your user data, but i want to back to previous url when the user complete the remainder custom fields edit.
