Description Gantt does not display subtasks correctly when parent task has greater ID than the child, i.e. when I create parent task after I created the child task, like when I migrate from 0.x which does not support subtasking to 1.0 which supports. Actually it brakes for me even when parent is created earlier, than a child. Try to create a simple hierarchy with 3-4 different parents each having several children.

P.S. I am using 1.0 r3839

This happens at my installation too. A ticket has four subtasks in Gantt there are five subtasks AND one of the subtasks is listed as "sub" to another ticket at gantt view? I think the date filter relates to this as setting a filter like: Display all tickets from January and not from the actual month corrects gantt.

Sending screenshots later this day.

Confirmed.

But the bug is duplicate of #5881 or #5194 .
So this issue should be closed.

#10 - 2010-08-03 14:48 - Sepp _

I don't think that it is a duplicate of either of them!

This is really a bug or defect, no feature!! When you look at Screenshot2.png, there are Issues shown as sub-issue, which just isn't right!
So i think we should reopen this Issue!

I understand this is a bug, and should be fixed.
By the way, someone told me that the patch had already been posted in #5438 .
I confirmed tha patch is effective in all of #5881, #5194, #5989 .

So, try the patch of #5438, and report the result.

#12 - 2010-08-05 08:15 - Sepp _

Works! Thanks!

#13 - 2010-08-05 11:38 - Alexey Podlasov

Is it going to be included into the next stable release, or should I just install the patch?

#14 - 2010-08-05 12:19 - Alexey Podlasov

Patch works fine, thanks!

#15 - 2010-10-03 15:03 - Mischa The Evil

- Category set to Gantt

#16 - 2012-10-23 14:09 - Toshi MARUYAMA

- Status changed from Resolved to Closed

Gantt was refactored in #6276.

So, this issue is obsolete.
