Description

In my case the custom queries provide better overviews than what is on the overview page. Would it be possible to see custom queries links on the overview page?

Sorry: The correct term would be Custom queries, not user defined reports.

A close request would be that the Custom queries on the right side should be more organizable. Grouping or colouring would be a simple form of organization.

The bottom line is that I would like to access my many Custom queries more easily.
