Description

As there wqas a discussion on gantt chart across more projects (http://www.redmine.org/issues/1484) I wnat to stretch that topic for the calendar feature.
We are just starting redmine but we like it from the beginning since we made a lot of steps forward without need for technical assistance.
What I miss:
We do need a calendar for all projects. Is this a feature which already exists and I have not discovered yet or is it not there? It is important for planning and controlling the resources.
Thank you.

For all projects: Yes, though the steps to get to probably aren't "straightforward": Projects (top left menu) > View all issues (top right content pane menu) > Calendar (right sidebar).

Cool ! Thank you very much. (now I need export for iCal , iphone etc., but that is a different issue...)

There's a plugin for that on the plugin page, and I'm working on an improved version that might also export issues as tasks instead of as all-day events, and such things. Keep an eye on the corresponding forum thread ;-)
