Description
On the Administration/Project screen, after clicking on the archive link next to a project and then "yes", I'm getting the following error message: "This project can not be archived". I can archive other projects in this redmine installation. I don't see anything special about the project and can not find any documentation on what might cause this error. The project does not have any descendants.

Please, check that there is no issue of another project that is assigned to one of the versions of the project you're trying to archive.

Thanks. That was the problem. I'll open a new issue that this error message should be better or it should be documented.
