Description

Dear Developers,

first of all, I'd like to congratulate the great job you are doing. As I'm just a Redmine user (or Redmine lover) I decided to contribute a little bit with you from the user side.

While editing wiki pages, the user has no option than saving the wiki page, returning to the previous page. There's no "save and continue" button to click (as we have in the new issue page). Then, the user is obliged to click on the edit button again if he/she wants to keep on editing the wiki, increasing the numbers of clicks.

From my point of view, it would be nice to have this feature available in the next releases. It would make the wiki editing more user friendly.

Ops... Is this a dupe of #2782 ?

Hi Fernando, considering dupe means "duplication" and not is real meaning, yes, feature #2782 is the same as this :-)
