Redmine - Feature #8409
single email for bulk updates
2011-05-20 00:03 - Kioma Aldecoa

| Status:   | New                         |
| Priority: | Normal                      |
| Assignee: |                            |
| Category: | Email notifications          |
| Target version: |                    |
| Resolution: |                             |
| Start date: | 2011-05-20                |
| Due date:  |                            |
| % Done:   | 0%                         |
| Estimated time: | 0.00 hour                |

Description

Right now, after doing a bulk update (change status, change target version, etc) of many issues results in an email notification going out for each user.

Instead it would be very nice to consolidate the updates into one email.

For example if changing status from new to accepted, a single email like this could go out:

The following issues were changed from status New to Accepted:
* 12345 -- single email for bulk updates
* 12346 -- All words keeps on getting checked
* 12347 -- Grant access to particular Wiki page

With larger projects there is such a deluge of emails that it is of little value to have email updates at all.

Related issues:
- Related to Redmine - Feature # 8241: Advanced notification: per user, per project... New 2011-04-28
- Related to Redmine - Feature # 5798: Bulk Notification Update or Combing Bulk Updates New 2010-07-01
- Related to Redmine - Feature # 4326: Aggregate Multiple Issue Changes for Email... New 2009-12-03
- Related to Redmine - Feature # 9068: New button : "Submit modification without... New 2011-08-16
- Duplicated by Redmine - Feature # 4057: Bunch changes notifications Closed 2009-10-20

History

#1 - 2011-05-20 05:38 - Terence Mill
dupe of #8241, see "Notification schedule"

#2 - 2011-06-03 08:54 - Etienne Massip
- Category set to Email notifications

#3 - 2013-03-20 16:04 - Arin Lipman
I don't see how this is a dupe of #8241. The issue here is that a bulk edit of issues will send out an email for each updated issue. The request is that instead of multiple emails, send one email notification that contains all the updated issues.

#4 - 2013-06-20 09:45 - Filou Centrinov
- Related to Feature #5798: Bulk Notification Update or Combining Bulk Update Notification into one Email added
Depending on the project, a lot of emails get sent out daily. It would be great to have some option to collect several updates to issues/projects within a specified timeframe into a single notification email.

Would be really nice.

-Duplicated by Feature #4057: Bunch changes notifications added

-Related to Feature #9068: New button : "Submit modification without notification" added