Description

in 0.6 users has "Hide my email address" feature that is VERY usefull. But it might be usefull to have global setting "Hide all email addresses". For example, if administartor wants to allow communications with RM only.
There might be variations like "hide emails for project", "hide emails for role" or "force hide email for certain user".

I agree with this feature, which have interesting privacy concern for consequent firms.
My +1 :)

+1 also.
Sometimes you can't allow the customers to contact the developers directly.
