Description
Hello,
It's a 'monkey patch', but it's helpful for me. And I think - not only for me.
I changed 'render_notes' in 'journals_helper.rb'. If user have only permissions 'edit_own_issue_notes' - he's can do it only into 4 hours after comment's creation. After this time user with this permission's can't change his comment.

And... what about the check in controller? Your patch won't show the link after 4 hours, but the controller will still permit the update action.

Yes. :) But I don't know, how user can change his comment without this link?
Of course, it is better to fix.
