Description

Hi everyone,

it would be great if there was a way to setup a mail notification, when the spent time exceeds the estimated time on an issue.

I think this would be useful for many people. In our company we need this because it is important to inform the customer, that we are out of our estimation. So it would be nice if the manager for example could get a mail like "Attention: Exceeded time on issue #XXX] or something like this.

By now I haven't found a way to do this.
