Description Hello,  When using gantt view with a complex project (using issues parent capability) we want to see an overall project planning view. If issues number produce a lot of line (more than one vertical browser page size) global project aspect planning cannot be view completely.  By limiting sub level we can provide a simple view ready for project reporting.  This functionality could be add in filters list in this way it can be use in gantt and issues view.
