Description
The "New Ticket" page of this redmine has a note about how to submit bugs. I suggest to add to the text box as well to the SubmittingBugs wiki page that the online demo might be a perfect place to (try to) reproduce a bug. If all works there, it might be a configuration issue on the user's installation or it might be already fixed, an then posting a question in the forum might be more appropriate than filing a bug. (This happened to me and I am probably not the first ...)

- Status changed from New to Closed

The <http://demo.redmine.org> service was discontinued entirely.

As for using the forum, there is now an explicit note towards that in the New issue page. Not that anyone cares about those hints... :)

Thanks for the suggestion though.
